PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is normally at year end that we reflect back on the past year's challenges and triumphs and plan for a better year ahead. Annual reports compel us to embark on a similar process, but during 2010 the ACBF Board has been in what feels like a constant process of reflection and planning. We have had many triumphs to celebrate. The Building Bridges Campaign to build the endowment has ended successfully. Last year, we met the $1,000,000 mark and the majority of five year pledges have now been completed. Attorneys Against Hunger also surpassed the $1,000,000 mark in providing assistance to local food pantries and hunger service agencies over the last eighteen years. With your help, we were able to distribute over $23,000 in grants to legal aid providers to assist them in developing programs to meet the needs of their target communities. Through donations to our named funds, the foundation awarded over $37,000 in loans and scholarships to deserving law school and high schools. In the last reporting year, over 9,000 disadvantaged clients were served by almost 1,000 volunteers through the Pro Bono Center programs. It has been quite an active year.

Yet, these numbers also reflect the need for new initiatives and a renewed commitment to continuing to provide assistance to the community. While we celebrate the successes, we also must recognize that the need in our community has increased significantly. Just as our clients expect us to be ahead of the next legal development in their representation, we must commit ourselves to staying ahead of the needs of our members and the community at large. Whether by establishing a new clinic, funding a new program, increasing loans and scholarships when other funding sources are decreasing, or being the safety net for our own members through the Lawyers Fund, the foundation continues to anticipate and respond to the needs of our constituents.

At a recent foundation Board retreat, the Board authorized several new initiatives to ensure that the foundation can continue to meet the legal needs of our community. You will be hearing about several of these new initiatives over the next year. The Board viewed 2010 as a crossroads for the foundation. We either had the option to pat ourselves on the back for a job well done and maintain the status quo while we wait for the economy to improve, or our other option – the option chosen by the Board – which is to continue to fulfill our mission to be a “driving force” in promoting justice for all and improving the community through public service law related programs. Being the driving force means constantly moving forward to ensure that the necessary programs are available for both our members and the community at large and to ensure that the funds are available to support those programs. Our work requires the dedication of time effort and money to see results, but as evidenced in this annual report, 2010 has been another year of results. Your commitment to the foundation has been invaluable and we know that working together we can continue to make a difference in the community.

Sincerely, Vicki L. Beatty, Esq.
President, ACBF

DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

“We do the work that makes you feel good about yourself, your career as a lawyer, and your commitment to making this community better.”

Since the bar foundation was established, it has been touted as the philanthropic “arm” of the Allegheny County Bar Association. I think this is a serious misconception. The bar foundation is much more than merely an appendage. I am going to go out on a limb (no pun intended) and redefine the foundation as the “heart” of the bar association.

Why the heart? This is why. We are definitely a vital organ for many attorneys and community members as well. If you look at the bar association as the brains, carrying on the daily activities of an association, the foundation is doing the heart-felt projects. This doesn't mean that the association has cornered the market on the brains; we run a very strong and well-structured foundation. Our programs just happen to be the ones that remind people that we, as attorneys, have a lot to offer to help improve our community. Whether it's through pro bono, public service, philanthropy, or education, we garner massive amounts of good will for our bar.

We do the work that makes you feel good about yourself, your career as a lawyer, and your commitment to making this community better. If you volunteer, these are the cases you will take home with you and talk about, especially if you are not involved in poverty law as a career. These are the cases that affect families and children and sometimes, even change lives. I know. I have done this work for long enough to know that sleep comes easy when you feel like you have done something to help make someone else's life better. And in this business, sleep usually doesn't come easy very often.

If you are too busy to volunteer, you can feel just as good through your donations. Don't underestimate the power of a gift! Giving a gift to the foundation is just as important as volunteering. You are just as much a part of the programs of the foundation. In fact, it is your monetary contribution that allows us to be here in the first place and gives us the ability to run all our great programs. And it is as simple as this, the more you give, the more we can do. We will make sure your gift is used wisely and properly to best meet the unique mission of the foundation to help balance justice in our community. We give you the opportunity to join in. We aren't selfish with all these great projects. We want you to feel great too!

We are going places—good places—and we want you to come along. It is not just for the ride, though. You will roll-up your sleeves, get your feet wet, and/or open your wallet. Whatever the cliché, I can guarantee that it will warm your heart! So, please don't call us an “arm” anymore. I am asking you to embrace the foundation as the “heart,” a part of your heart.

Let us be a vital part of our bar association. If you agree, the next time you see us, point to your heart and give us the thumbs-up. Let's start the new identity process. And now, with that said, let's get on with the work because there is so much to do.

2010 FOUNDATION HIGHLIGHTS

FOUNDATION TO HOUSE INSTITUTE FOR GENDER EQUALITY FUND

In November 2010, the ACBA Institute for Gender Equality (IGE) fund was transferred to the bar foundation. The transfer enables donors to make tax-deductible gifts to the Institute. Established in 2008, the IGE addresses gender equality issues through series-based sessions aimed at educating both practitioners and firm decision-makers.

If you are interested in donating to the IGE fund, contact Lorrie Albert at (412) 402-6640 or lalbert@acba.org.

ENVIRONMENT & ENERGY LAW SECTION ESTABLISHES SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Scholarship Fundraiser held on Pittsburgh's RiverQuest Explorer

The ACBA Environment & Energy Law Section hosted a river cruise fundraiser on June 10, 2010 aboard the RiverQuest Explorer (the "Green Boat"), raising over $5,000 for the newly established ACBF Environment & Energy Law Section Scholarship Fund. This fund will serve to continue the Section's tradition of awarding annual scholarships to law students at Duquesne University and the University of Pittsburgh who have demonstrated an interest in pursuing a career in environmental law and who meet other criteria set forth by the Section. The Section believes the scholarships will play an important role in getting law students involved in environmental law early in their careers and will help maintain interest in the environmental field.

SERVING THE PUBLIC GOOD

PUBLIC INTEREST LAW FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

The Public Interest Law Fellowship Program (PILFP) marked its second year by awarding financial stipends, ranging from $1,500 to $3,500, to twenty-five attorneys working in the public service field. Created in 2009 through a generous grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Community & Economic Development, PILFP has awarded $100,000 over two years to twenty-seven public service attorneys who have demonstrated exemplary job performance and financial need.

To qualify for the program, applicants must be active members of the ACBA, employed full time by an ACBA recognized civil legal service agency as defined by the ACBA dues structure, and commit to an additional year of full-time employment at one of the recognized agencies.

The ACBF recently learned that it has been pre-approved by the state to receive an additional $50,000 in funding.

EDUCATIONAL AWARDS

ACBF AWARDS $37,250 IN LOANS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

In 2010, the bar foundation awarded $37,250 in educational loans and scholarships to deserving law school and high school students. The awards are established by a variety of named funds administered by the foundation and require each student to meet criteria depending on the fund's purpose. Some factors taken into consideration may include financial need, strong academic performance, excellent writing and oral argument skills, and excellence in certain areas of the law.

PRO BONO CENTER

“We continue to work to identify areas of need in the community and secure volunteer attorneys to meet those needs.”

— Barbara Griffin, Pro Bono Coordinator

The Pro Bono Center is a vital resource for low-income Allegheny County residents in need of free legal assistance involving such basic human needs as housing, employment, family structure, and economic self-sufficiency. National and local studies have reported that legal aid programs are able to assist only a fraction of those in need, leaving a huge gap in legal services. The Pro Bono Center's one-of-a-kind program has the ability to increase the number of well-trained volunteer attorneys and pro bono projects to make a significant impact on reducing this critical gap in services. The Center has the unique ability to leverage the over 6,400 members of the Allegheny County Bar Association and frequently engages member attorneys, judges, paralegals, and others in developing and supporting the delivery of legal services, resulting in collaborative projects that benefit clients, improve the function of the courts, and provide attorneys with volunteer opportunities. The Center provides its volunteer attorneys with essential support services including recruitment, training, free legal research, and malpractice insurance.

The Center also provides direct legal services to the indigent. In 2010, the Coordinator personally assisted 567 individuals with representation, advice, or referrals in a wide variety of legal matters. The Center's Divorce Law Project averages 154 phone calls per month and in 2010 filed 164 divorce petitions and obtained 131 divorces for low-income individuals. In 2009, over 9,200 low-income clients were served by nearly 900 volunteer attorneys through the Center's programs.

PRO BONO CENTER

Represented clients have a greater chance of obtaining fair outcomes of their cases. Thus, the Center's work in increasing the number of well-trained volunteer attorneys is critical to meeting the needs of individuals and families facing legal issues for which they are unable to afford representation. The Pro Bono Center has made significant progress in providing direct services and expanding programs to serve the legal needs of the poor:

VOLUNTEER WITH THE PRO BONO CENTER

The Pro Bono Center encourages attorneys, paralegals and law students to volunteer their services to the Center's organizations and projects that provide direct legal services to the poor:

Chris's commitment to the clients has been outstanding, and her expertise is especially welcome as many of the clinic's clients have family law issues. Chris has always gone beyond the normal call of duty in providing pro bono legal assistance to family law clients, taking on full representation of clients in matters including custody disputes. In addition to her own commitment to volunteering at Uptown Legal Clinic, Chris has taken it upon herself to generate the interest of others in her firm, Frank Bails Murcko Gubinsky & Gale, where she is a shareholder. Houston Harbaugh. Heidi is the only attorney who has specifically volunteered to go to the hospital rooms and the homes of PATF's most seriously-ill clients, saying that she wants to make sure that all of its clients have access to a Power-of-Attorney, Living Will and Last Will and Testament documents if they want one. Buchanan Ingersoll & Rooney is an active member of the Pittsburgh Pro Bono Partnership, with a representative on its Administrative Board. It is one of three member organizations staffing the McKees Rocks Community Clinic and has done so since Klett Rooney joined with Alcoa to begin the clinic in 2003. Buchanan attorney Lisa Pampena has organized a second Partnership project, the HELP clinic. In connection with UPMC Mercy's Operation Safety Net program, attorneys provide legal services at this clinic to assist the homeless. Buchanan attorneys also participate in the Partnership's Custody Conciliation Project, representing clients in conciliation hearings in Family Court. In addition to its work as a member of the Partnership, Buchanan has long participated in NLSA's large firm PFA Referral Program, and in 2009 was among the three top firms in the number of referrals its attorneys accepted. For both the Partnership and NLSA, Buchanan has without fail made its Moses Hampton Room available for numerous CLE trainings sponsored by NLSA. In addition, attorneys at the firm participate in individual pro bono work which benefits those in need. Buchanan is a firm whose management encourages such pro bono efforts on the part of its staff and whose firm culture represents the philosophical outlook and practical approach which is necessary to ensure that the legal needs of the poor and disabled in Allegheny County are met.

PRO BONO ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

LAW STUDENT PRO BONO AWARD

PITT LAW

University of Pittsburgh
School of Law Family Law Clinic

Under the leadership of Professor Harry Gruener, The University of Pittsburgh Family Law Clinic began operating in the spring of 2004 with three students. Today, eight students per year participate in this coveted clinic which offers direct client access and courtroom time. In the 2009-2010 school year, the Family Law Clinic interviewed 594 pro se litigants at the Allegheny Court of Common Pleas Family Division Pro Se Assistance Project. The vast majority of these interviews ended with the students drafting motions for the litigants, translating the litigants' wishes into the appropriate language to be presented to the judge. Of the 594 litigants interviewed, the clinic chose 85 litigants to represent at Motions Court. The clinic students won approximately 95% of the motions they presented. The students are eager, well prepared, and professional, and dedicate a minimum of 280 hours during the school year to the clinic. The vast majority of this time is spent in direct services, with very little in classroom time. The presence of law students lowers the need to find attorneys to volunteer and frees the attorneys to do other pro bono activities. This learning experience for the students provides an invaluable service to the courts and to low-income clients.

PARALEGAL PRO BONO AWARD

Pittsburgh Paralegal Association

The volunteers of the Pittsburgh Paralegal Association have always modeled their efforts to serve others after the ethical standards, dedication, and commitment of pro bono attorneys, lawyers servicing the community needing direction, guidance and assistance with their various legal issues. The members of the PPA Pro Bono Committee, chaired by Fay Luther, have committed their time, talents and paralegal experiences in various programs including the ACBA's Disaster Relief Program, the YWCA's Legal Resources for Women, Neighborhood Legal Services Association's Family Law Clinic. Many of our PPA Pro Bono volunteers have handled the scheduling of appointments of the clients as well as instructed the new paralegals in the preparation of workload for the clinic session, and the paperwork involved in each client case that is handled by the pro bono lawyer. Whenever they can assist the lawyer during his initial visit with the client, they are there and ready to help out. PPA Pro Bono volunteers have also volunteered to assist the Allegheny County Bar Association and the Allegheny County Bar Foundation in various projects and fund raising event, including the Legal Service Directory, the ACBA Golf Tournament, and Pro Bono Rocks! In years past and years to come, PPA Pro Bono Volunteers endeavor to be a part of any and all ACBA/ACBF programs that come to the aid of those in need of legal services as we all work together in rendering whatever services they can to help promote and publicize the legal community to the general public.

CORPORATE LEGAL DEPARTMENT PRO BONO AWARD

EQT EQT

Where energy meets innovation.

EQT joined the Pittsburgh Pro Bono Partnership in 2009 and quickly got to work establishing a community legal clinic at the downtown office of Catholic Charities, Diocese of Pittsburgh. The clinic meets on the first Monday of every month from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. Along with volunteer attorneys from Pepper Hamilton, EQT attorneys meet with clients regarding a variety of legal issues commonly affecting individuals and families with very low incomes. Even though the volunteer attorneys are corporate lawyers, with training and the assistance of mentors they have taken on cases involving matters such as landlord/tenant disputes, employment law, and family law. The Catholic Charities clinic meets a vital need, providing general legal services in a central location to a community whose legal needs might otherwise go unmet. All ten of the attorneys in the legal department participate in the clinic. These attorneys have shown enthusiasm and commitment in their work on this project, and are very deserving of this award.

JUDICIAL SERVICE AWARD

Hon. Joy Flowers Conti

Judge Conti is nominated for her leadership in helping to establish the ECSEL program—"Enhancing Community Safety Through Education and Legal Services"—which provides direct legal services and informational sessions to former federal inmates who are participating in the Workforce Development Services program of the U.S. Probation and Pretrial Services Office for the Western District of Pennsylvania. Led by Chief Probation Officer Ted Johnson, that program provides counseling, job development, and education to probationers under its supervision. These services help to reduce recidivism, decrease the unemployment rate of offenders, and increase the probability that restitution will be paid in a timely manner. With the leadership of Judge Conti and the assistance of task force members including Assistant U.S. Attorney Tina Miller, the probation office began to partner with the Allegheny County Bar Association, Neighborhood Legal Services Association, and the Pro Bono Center on a program that provides civil legal services to federal probationers. The ECSEL program enlists Neighborhood Legal Services Association and volunteer attorneys to provide legal services with respect to issues that are impeding a probationer's return to life as a productive member of the community. Judge Conti's work on bringing the key players to the table, recruiting volunteer attorneys, and promoting the vision of the program makes her deserving of this award.

NEW INITIATIVE

H.E.L.P. Pittsburgh

Homeless Experience Legal Protection (H.E.L.P.) enlists local attorneys, law students, and law firm secretaries and paralegals to provide pro bono legal assistance to homeless individuals. Part of a nationwide program that was created in New Orleans, it launched in Pittsburgh with the support of Lisa Pampena of Buchanan, Ingersoll & Rooney; Judge David Hatfield of the Social Security Administration; and Linda Sheets of Operation Safety Net ("OSN"). To date, 34 clients have been provided service by the attorneys for issues such as housing eviction, family issues, and social security benefits. Assistance at the clinic often takes the form of a single consultation but occasionally extends further, depending on clients' needs. Since H.E.L.P.'s inception, 31 attorneys from eleven law firms as well as the Pittsburgh Paralegal Association have performed legal services at the OSN office. The project collaborates with Neighborhood Legal Services; the Allegheny County Bar Association; Pittsburgh Paralegal Association; Allegheny County Bar Foundation; Buchanan, Ingersoll & Rooney; Thorp Reed & Armstrong, LLP; Dickie McCamey & Chilcote, P.C.; Tucker Arensberg, P.C.; McGuire Woods, LLP; Reed Smith, LLP; Ogletree Deakins; CBS Corporation; Schnader Harrison Segal & Lewis LLP; and sole practitioners Anthony Seethaler and Patrick Murphy.

PITTSBURGH PRO BONO PARTNERSHIP

The Pittsburgh Pro Bono Partnership is a collaboration of legal departments, law firms, the Allegheny County Bar Foundation, and Neighborhood Legal Services Association. Its purpose is to increase attorney and paralegal pro bono legal services to the greater Pittsburgh community. It especially encourages new and more creative efforts to provide legal services to persons of limited means and to those organizations, including charities, which work on their behalf.

The Partnership experienced an exciting tenth year in 2010. It added a new member—Fed Ex Ground, Inc.—and offered volunteer training programs for projects including the Custody Conciliation Project, the Child Custody Guardian Project (now staffed by Dickie McCamey & Chilcote, PC), H.E.L.P. Pittsburgh, and the Wills Project. Its administrative board continued to explore ways to provide legal services to low-income individuals in need, and made substantial progress in the development of new programs.

The Partnership received two prestigious awards in 2010: the American Bar Association Section of Litigation's John Minor Wisdom Public Service and Professionalism Award and the Pennsylvania Legal Aid Network's 2010 Excellence Award. In October, the Partnership welcomed Pennsylvania Supreme Court Chief Justice Ronald Castille to its annual breakfast meeting and laid out "The Top Ten Reasons Attorneys Don't Do Pro Bono." One by one, attorneys and judges from the Partnership countered those reasons with information, strategies, and resources designed to help attorneys represent low-income individuals.

"The Partnership should be proud to be among the remarkable legal service providers from all over the state who were recognized for the work they are doing."— Pennsylvania Supreme Court Chief Justice Ronald Castille.

JUVENILE COURT PROJECT

HELPING FAMILIES BE HEARD

Juvenile Court Project attorneys and staff

JCP Director Eleanor Grainy

The Juvenile Court Project (JCP) contracts with the Allegheny County Department of Human Services to provide free legal representation to parents with pending child welfare cases in Allegheny County Children's Court. The JCP's mission is to advocate for the interests and protect the legal rights of clients who face many challenges to maintaining their families, not the least of which is poverty.

The JCP represents approximately 1,200 parents per year in all facets of dependency cases from emergency shelter hearings to termination of parental rights hearings. JCP attorneys also represent clients in child abuse expungement proceedings before the Department of Public Welfare, Bureau of Hearings and Appeals.

JCP attorneys work collaboratively with three staff social workers who recently completed a rigorous nine month course of study in Family Development Training and Credential (FDC). The FDC program provides skills to front line workers, enabling them to become more effective in assisting individuals and families to achieve goals through a strength based empowerment model of practice. JCP staff has put these new skills into practice to the benefit of clients and their families. In one case, a JCP social worker was able to use her new knowledge to work with a client by concentrating on the client's strengths and empowering her to participate constructively in planning for the return of her child. As a result, the client became engaged with her county workers, and she achieved her goal of reuniting with her child.

The JCP continues to participate in outreach within the community. Staff members give presentations to community groups, law school classes and other social service agencies in an effort to educate the public about the workings of juvenile court and the misconceptions the public may have about JCP clientele. Through cooperation with the Duquesne Law School clinic, two certified interns spent this school year helping JCP attorneys with their cases. The students gained valuable experience and the clients benefitted from the extra attention. JCP attorneys serve on Pennsylvania Supreme Court Committees that engage in court improvement projects. The JCP continues to conduct outreach in the jail and in the community by visiting sites on a weekly basis to bring services to clients otherwise unable to reach the JCP.

OUR WORK IN ACTION

DIANE'S STORY

Children Youth and Families removed Diane P's two children from her care due to allegations of alcohol abuse. The children were placed into a foster home. Within a matter of a few weeks, Diane's JCP attorney was made aware of some concerns regarding inadequate care and adjustment of the children in the foster care home. After investigating the allegations, Diane's attorney successfully motioned to have the two children removed from the foster home. Within two months of removal, the children were returned to Diane and the case closed within six months of the original removal without an adjudication of dependency. The children are now home with Diane and are thriving in her care.

SHAYLA'S STORY

The JCP was contacted by KidsVoice, an advocacy group representing children, for help in representing one of its teenage clients. Sixteen year old Shayla R. was unhappy in her foster home and left the home with her infant. A dependency petition was filed alleging that Shayla's child was without proper care because Shayla left the home. With the help of her JCP attorney, Shayla was able to argue that she was meeting her child's needs even though she left her foster home. Shayla and her child were placed together in a foster home that Shayla felt comfortable with and the case closed successfully without a finding of dependency.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMITTEE

The Public Service Committee is a joint committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association and the Allegheny County Bar Foundation. Among its purposes are to “promote and encourage the members of the Association to provide pro bono public services” and “support public or private agencies or other organizations dedicated to providing legal services for those not otherwise able to afford them.” In addition to exploring areas of need for legal services and ways to further equal access to justice, the Committee undertook two popular projects that connected attorneys with children in the community. The Committee also recognized and celebrated the many attorneys, paralegals, and others who provide pro bono services each year.

THE BACKPACK PROJECT

Volunteers fill backpacks with supplies.

“Many families are being asked to buy these supplies, which can be difficult in this economy. So these backpacks will help in that effort. Our laws firms and donors really came through for us.”

—Jonathan McAnney

This year the committee organized and arranged for the distribution of a record number of backpacks filled with school supplies. Over 1,000 backpacks were assembled by volunteers from the committee and members of the Young Lawyers Division. Led by project chair Jonathan McAnney of Tucker Arensberg, committee members garnered donations of money and supplies, and partnered with Storehouse for Teachers for delivery of the backpacks to area schools in low-income neighborhoods.

LAW DAY 2010

Volunteers from the Public Service Committee present a Law Day program for more than 50 elementary school students

“[Law Day] gives us a chance to show children why the law is important and help them understand the role that attorneys play in the legal system.”

—Nicole Scialabba

The committee hosted a group of fourth and fifth graders at the City-County Building for a program that explored the Rule of Law. This program allows attorneys to connect with the community while giving the students a chance to meet attorneys, ask them about their careers, and learn the role that attorneys play in the legal system. Over 50 students attended the 2010 program.

VOLUNTEERS HONORED & RECOGNIZED

The Pitt Law School Unemployment Compensation Clinic receives a PBA Pro Bono Award.

“Time is a precious commodity, and we want to show our appreciation for our volunteers’ willingness to share their time to help others in our community.”

—Kelly Williams

Over 100 volunteer attorneys, paralegals, professors, and others gathered for a celebration of pro bono legal services on May 19 at the new Reed Smith Centre downtown. In addition to refreshments and hors d’oeuvres, guests were treated to door prizes and live jazz by the Lee Robinson trio. In addition, PBA President Gretchen Mundorff presented the 2010 PBA Pro Bono Awards to Pittsburgh-area winners.

FELLOWS PROGRAM

In 1996, the Allegheny County Bar Foundation established the Fellows Program as a formal means to:

- Recognize and honor attorneys who have shown a commitment to excellence in charitable, community, professional, and/or public service activities.
- Recognize a level of professional distinction in the legal community based on significant contributions.
- Create an endowment for bar foundation programs and foster new and innovative programs.
- Create an organization of members who recognize and accept the Bar's on-going challenge to fund public service activities.

Fellows pledges, in the amount of $1,000, are to be paid over a four-year period. These pledges support the foundation in two important ways. Fifty percent of each pledge helps build the foundation's Endowment. Interest income from the Endowment supports the foundation's initiatives to enhance the delivery of pro bono legal services to low-income clients in Allegheny County. The other fifty percent of each pledge helps grow the foundation's Grants Program.

2010 FELLOWS INDUCTION & GRAND RECEPTION

September 21, 2010 • August Wilson Center

Special performance by Singer/Songwriter/Producer John Forte.

Grammy-nominated musician John Forté inspired a crowd of nearly 150 with his unique personal journey through the legal system. At the height of his musical career with singer Lauryn Hill and the Fugees, Forté was convicted on drug-trafficking charges and landed in federal prison.

After years of failed appeals, Forté was granted a commutation by President George W. Bush in November 2008 thanks to the hard work of a pro bono attorney.

Following Forté's inspiring performance, the ACBF inducted the Fellows and Young Lawyers Fellows Classes of 2010. In addition, the ACBF presented Pro Bono awards to deserving individuals for their commitment to public service in our community.

"I would like to encourage the sponsors and the donors to keep giving to this charitable cause because I wouldn't be here today if not for someone who fought diligently on my behalf, and they did it pro bono." - John Forté
